TRIUMPH OF THE RING

About 250 Democrats Meet and Ratify Machine's Choice

Secret Conferences Held Among the Ring Leaders During the Proceedings.

According to previous announcement a Democratic mass convention was held at the Court House here last Monday at which the nominations of candidates for the various county officers were ratified. The meeting was called to order by county Chairman T. J. Smith who performed his part of the program with an air of consciousness of the ultimate outcome of the meeting. As a further part of the program, Mr. G. B. Likens was elected permanent chairman and on assuming the duties of that position took occasion to disclaim knowledge of the fact that he was to act in that capacity. At this juncture a little diversion from the ring's program was necessary. Mr. Heber Matthews was too ill to assume the duties of Secretary and in his stead some one else had to be substituted.

A committee on resolutions was appointed by Chairman Likens who directed the members thereof to retire to his office where they procured the resolutions which the "Ring" had previously prepared and in a few minutes were ready to report.

The resolutions are rather lengthy and bear the earmarks of the individual in whose praise they speak loudest. The major part of the remarkable resolutory document was devoted to a discussion of the financial affairs of the county and a forlorn attempt to deceive the public as to the status thereof. It also lavishly praises Judge Miller but fails to cite an instance in which he has portrayed any extraordinary ability or more than passingly performed his duties in the conduct of public affairs.

There were present about 250 to 300 Democrats and in several of the races desperate attempts were made by those Democrats who believe in an open, free, and fair choice of the nominees to break the slate agreed upon by the "Hartford Ring," but all efforts were unavailing and the ring candidates to a man received the nominations. When a non-ring man seemed about to win a nomination the proceedings were stopped long enough for the manipulators to have a secret conference and either scare him off, persuade him off or buy him off.

It was a cut and dried affair from first to last and the third term man was to even a casual observer the ruling power behind the throne. His bidding was done in the finest detail and the apparent remarkably harmonious proceedings were due to the fact that all the candidates had been nominated by the third term man and his ring several days before the convention day and the ratifications made easy by simply passing the word around on the morning of the convention. The ring crowd run everything highhanded and the poor fellows who happened not to be on the slate were routed in every instance.

The ticket as nominated will however serve all purposes of the minority party. There is of course no hope on part of the nominees or the party that any of them will be elected, and waiving the questionable means by which the nominees were chosen, it is composed of about as good men as a minority party usually succeeds in naming.

The ticket is as follows: J. D. Cooper, Fordsville, Representative; J. P. Miller, Hartford, Judge; Lon Smith, Westerfield, Clerk; Tom Butler, Shreve, Sheriff; W. H. Barnes, Hartford, County Attorney; A. P. Taylor, Beaver Dam, Superintendent of Schools; T. C. Park, Clear Run, Jailer; J. T. Moore, Sulphur Springs, Assessor; A. F. Butler, Select, Surveyor; Tom Stevens, Beaver Dam, Coroner.

Jett and White Witnesses.

Lexington, Ky., May 2.—The first real excitement since the trial of James Hargis began was caused here to-day over the arrival of Curtis Jett and Tom White from the Frankfort penitentiary, the convicts having been summoned by the commonwealth to testify in the Hargis cases. The arrival of the men was a surprise to the defendant and his attorneys, and for a few minutes there was great confusion in the courtroom, and it was not known by any one the nature of the testimony that would be given by the men, both of whom were convicted of the assassination of J. B. Marcum, and one of whom, Jett, was sentenced to death for the Cockrill killing.

Judge Hargis and his counsel were visibly affected by the presence of the men and the Judge's agitation was plainly noticeable to those in the courtroom.

Miss Della Stroebe, Rural Route No. 1, Appleton, Wis., writes: "For several years I was in a run-down condition, and I could find no relief from doctors nor medicines. I could not enjoy my meals and could not sleep at night. I had heavy dark circles about the eyes. My friends were much alarmed. I was advised to give Peruna a trial and to my joy I began to improve with the first bottle. After taking six bottles I felt completely cured. I cannot say too much for Peruna as a medicine for women in a run-down condition."—Della Stroebe.

The State Board of Valuation and Assessment has decided to arrive at the value of National bank shares for taxation by taking the total capital stock, surplus fund and undivided profits, deducting therefrom the value of real estate held by the banks. This does not provide for deduction of the value of Government bonds held by such banks, as contended for by the banks, and the matter probably will be taken to the courts for adjudication.

ROBBERY OF THE TREASURY.

April Fool Lie About Looting of the U. S. Treasury.

The Whole World Startled at the Mavelous Poke Story.

[Washington D. C. Dispatch.] All over Austria and Germany a story has circulated that the United States Treasury has been looted of every dollar by burglars in the employ of American millionaires; that $268,000,000 is gone, and that the North squadron is chasing the crackmen, who escaped on five ocean steamers.

This piece of news was first printed in the Berlin Tageblatt, one of the principal German papers, on April 1, and despite the date of its appearance, within two days it was published all over both countries and taken seriously. So much interest has it inspired that one of the Diplomatic Crops has received from an excited fellow countryman a copy of the Pesther Lloyd, of Budapest, one of the most responsible and influential of the papers which printed the story, with a request that any further news about it may be communicated.

The story appeared in the Pesther Lloyd on April 3. It is entitled "The Robbery of the U. S. Treasury," and reads as follows:

"The New York correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt reports a crime which has no parallel in the annals of the world, one almost incredible and with consequences which cannot be estimated. He says:

"A most abominable crime was perpetrated the night before last in Washington. A gang of criminals, working with many millions of capital, has successfully carried through what was always considered impossible, namely, to burglarize the United States Treasury and to take from it $268,000,000 in gold and silver.

"Up to the present time the fact has been kept secret from the press and I myself became acquainted with it only through a curious accident during my recent presence in the national capital. The whole thing is to be kept secret as long as possible, at least until the Government has succeeded in finding traces of the criminals, who have fled across the ocean on their own ships, as far as may be at all possible to find such traces. For then there may be some chances of getting the treasure back entirely or in part.

"The millions of the United States Treasury was protected through a very complicated invention called the Holmes Electric Protector in such a manner that burglary was considered impossible, for though the protector alarm signals are fixed on each of the thirteen main Treasury vaults, consisting of a stem of electric automatically worked indicators, and the very moment such an alarm signal sounds, no fewer than 1,500 special guards of Secret Service, policemen and officers of the garrison are called simultaneously in the Treasury.

"The fact that this apparatus did work although in this month several examinations were made, leaves no doubt that the criminals had accomplices among the highest officials of the Treasury, for only thus can be explained that the electric current lost itself in the ground instead of giving the alarm. It is less remarkable that the sixty-eight night watchmen did not hear anything, or that not want to hear anything, for the fine officials knew only one way, to draw their salaries on the 1st of the month.

"However it may also be the fact that their attention was not called anything remarkable, for the means used by the criminals were perfectly noiseless. Now after the Treasury vaults have been robbed of their entire contents, they are shown during the usual hours to the public without any visitor suspecting anything amiss.

"The abominable deed was carried out in the following diabolically planned manner. It has been prepared for years. Criminals, who, as it is believed, acted at the instance of the main American millionaires and millions and millions at their disposal, had an electric-technical fact-ry in the yard of the Potomac, opposite Fifteenth street, on which the Treasury is situated. This factory which showed the firm name of Smith Jones & Co., seemingly was nothing but a plant of electrical apparatus and machines. In truth, it was the main purpose of the whole building which to-day is entirely abandoned to hide the subterranean tunnel which was to be dug from there to the scene of the burglary.

"From this factory a tunnel was dug almost an English mile long, 30 feet below the river bed, and ending directly under the Treasury in a large caisson. From here 13 shafts were dug upward, each ending directly under one of the 13 Treasury vaults.

"Thus it was possible to cut out the foundations simultaneously in all the chambers and to move their contents within a short time into the tunnel, where the gold and silver were transferred to electric cars and in this manner carried to the factory. From here transportation was effected by means of a fleet of at least 20 submarine boats to the large ships waiting in the open sea.

"The submarine boats were probably built in Europe for this specific purpose. Evidently they were fitted up in the same manner as the ships which are used for the purpose of lifting lost treasure from the bottom of the sea. Certainly there were contrivances by means of which the cargoes of the electric cars were transmitted very quickly by means of compressed air, to the submarine boats, where upon these ships with their cargo immediately proceeded with full speed.

"It has been positively ascertained that these ships went through Chesapeake Bay to the ocean, where no fewer than three and probably five large steamers were lying under steam. These vessels took on board the precious freight as well as the transport boats with all their crews.

"The whole North Atlantic Squadron has been ordered to search for the burglars on every route which the criminals could have taken. All the cruisers in the Caribbean Sea, will join in the chase. In addition to this, the fastest ships stationed in the Pacific port have been sent south with orders to await further instructions in Chilean ports."

Germans who have read this remarkable story say that without doubt it was written in this country and not in Berlin.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers. They filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

Of Aeronaut Who Fell Twenty Feet Below the Earth's Surface.

[Le Seul (Min.) Cor. St. Paul Dispatch.]

The festivities at the annual meeting of the W. L. A. Society of Le Sueur County, held on the farm of Betram Ludwig, yesterday were sadly marred by a distressing accident at the balloon ascension late in the afternoon, which was to be the crowning feature of the occasion.

Through one delay or another, the balloon was not ready to go up till very dark, but the compensation was contingent on his going up, so up he went, quite a while after sunset.

There was but little wind, and the ascent was nearly perpendicular but, when the huge, hot-air cylinder was high in the atmosphere, a slight breeze started it off to the southwest and at the same time a spark that had been smoldering in the frayed canvas near the lower ring, broken into a slight flame, and a cry of horror went up from all beholders. The aeronaut saw the flame also, and was seen to be frantically shaking at the rope that should have loosened the parachute, but the rope was fouled and the parachute remained fast. Instantly the aeronaut went up, hand over hand, on the ropes and canvas of the parachute to the lower part of the balloon in an attempt to reach and extinguish the fire, but, even as he climbed, the flames gathered greater volume, and, just as he reached the bottom of the balloon, the portion sustaining the parachute burned away and he fell tangled in the parachute and followed by a trail of fire, like an inverted sky rocket, through the darkening evening air, the great balloon falling slowly after him as the mounting flames consumed it.

Hundreds of men and boys ran to the place where the aeronaut appeared to fall, some quarter of a mile away, but no trace of the unfortunate man could be found, and it was not till nearly midnight, that a lone and persistent searcher heard him scratching and swearing as he climbed slowly out of a 20-foot dry and deserted well on the Bidley place into which he had fallen with perfect accuracy, not even grazing the side and buoyed up with the softness of a good air cushion as the tangled bundle of the parachute plugged the small, straight shaft of the well and let him down slowly to the bottom as his weight pushed the canvas cork gradually down.

Strictly Genuine.

Most of the patent medicine testimonials are probably genuine. The following notice recently appeared in the Atchison (Kan.) Globe: "Joe Tack, a well known engineer, running on the Missouri Pacific between Wichita and Kiowa, lately appeared in a big one, with a picture, and when he was in this office to-day, we asked him about it. He says he had terrific pains in his stomach, and thought he had cancer. His druggist recommended Kodol and he says it cured him. He recommended it to others, who were also cured." Kodol's Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and cures all stomach troubles. Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Egg in a Bottle.

If an Egg be kept in strong vinegar for a short while the shell will become more or less plastic, and the egg can then be rolled out sausage like until it is of small enough diameter to go with ease in at the mouth of a beer bottle. The Wonderful Stallion.

GOEBEL,

Will make the season of 1905 at E. D. Oldham's stable, near Beaver Dam, Ky., at $15 to insure a living colt. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but will not be responsible should any occur. Season is due when colt is foaled or mare parted with. A lien will be retained on colt until season fee is paid.

This magnificent horse is pronounced by the best judges of horse flesh to be the best combined, saddle and harness stallion in Kentucky. He needs no reputation as a show horse to those who have seen him show. He has been shown at the best fairs in the State each year since he was two years old, and has won more blue ties than any horse of his class. Goebel is a model horse and he proves to be an excellent breeder.

Description and Pedigree.

GOEBEL is a coal-black stallion, three white feet, star in forehead, 16 hand high, will be 6 years old the 1st of May, 1905. He has fine main, tail, style and action, and is pretty as a picture. Goebel was sired by Happy Bell, he by Happy Cross 52 in S. H. B's. Association. Happy Cross is by Gizzard's Chief 2253; first dam by old Star Denmark. Happy Bell's first dam by imported Seythor (thoroughbred). Goebel's first dam by Rolla Gold Dust, he by Arabian Gold Dust, he by Dorsey's Gold Dust 150. Second dam is Mollie W., by Fancy Gold Dust, he by old Gold Dust 150. Second dam by Dr. J. H. Thomas' old Cotton Picker. Goebel's first dam, a half-sister to Nellie W.

I desire to thank the citizens for their support last year and would kindly ask all whose desire is to raise fine colts to call and see my stock before breeding elsewhere.

PREMIUM—I will give the season for the best colt of his get this year and $10 for the 2nd best. Colts to be shown at Beaver Dam on Saturday before the Ohio County Fair, 1906.

INDIAN CHILDREN

Devoured By Feroocious Wolves in the Wilds of Northern Canada.

[Quebec (Canada) Cor. New York Sun.]

Wolves have been exceedingly ferocious during the last winter in many parts of Northern Canada, according to the reports which are being brought in to the headquarters of the Hudson Bay Company. One of the most serious of these reports has reference to the destruction wrought by wolves among the surviving bands of the wood buffalo, and has been sent by mail from Ft. Resolution, which is a Hudson Bay Company post on the southern shore of the Great Slave Lake, in the vast, unexplored district of Mackenzie.

The winter there was marked by a constantly low temperature of some 30 degrees below zero for months at a time, which made the wolves alarmingly bold, so that it became necessary for the Indians to consolidate their camps for purposes of protection.

The magnificent herd of wood buffalo which are still at large in this wild country were attacked by the wolves in the absence of other food, with unprecedented ferocity, and hundreds of them are said to have been slaughtered. At Ft. Smith it was noticed that even old bulls which were fully grown had been attacked and devoured.

The trappers and others in the north are now memorializing the Dominion Government to organize some effectual campaign against the wolves. In view of their rapid increase and ferocity of late it will otherwise be simply impossible to protect the buffalo against them, they say.

From the Peace River country comes the tale of two Indian children having been devoured by wolves. The mother had died, leaving the two little ones to the care of the father, a hunter, who, running short of food, had left them in a small hut while he went out hunting.

Returning at night, he found their bones outside the hut. It is not known whether the beasts, whose scent of very young children is known to be exceedingly keen, had torn open the hut to get at their prey, or whether the children had found their own way out only to fall a prey to the wolves. The story as first told was to the effect that the father had purposely left the little ones where they would become the prey of wolves, so as to be rid of the trouble of caring for them; but there is no evidence to warrant his indictment.

John Macdonald, a hunter of Cape Breton, had an exciting experience only a few days ago with a pack of wolves which followed and attacked him as he was returning from a hunt near Cape North. It was growing dark at the time, and this no doubt gave additional courage to the brutes.

The faster the hunter ran the faster the pursuing animals approached him. When the foremost one was close upon him Macdonald, turned sharply around and fired so well directed a shot at it that it fell dead in its tracks. Another was so close behind that the hunter found it necessary to fire the remaining barrel of his gun, which brought down the second wolf, though without killing it.

The foremost of the others fell upon the wounded animal, which was howling in rage and agony, and the hunter had just time to load one barrel of his gun before another beast was ready to spring upon him. He had scarcely fired his third charge, and had no opportunity to reload, when two other wolves sprang at him.

Just as he was striking right and left with his gun at the savage beasts and fearing that his last hour had come, assistance arrived in the shape of a neighbor, who had heard his cries for help and who happened to be taking a short cut through the woods for a neighboring parish. True to their cowardly nature, the moment they saw that assistance had come to their intended prey the brutes slunk away in the darkness.

The American Farmer the Best in the World.

The American farmer is the greatest man in the world to-day because he is master of the soil—he is gaining in intelligence quite as rapidly as his products are increasing in magnitude. Our recent combines of capital in United States measured in money are enormous, yet such figures sink into insignificance when compared to the money, brain and brawn invested in agriculture. For instance, the farmers of Minnesota and Dakota have received $300,000,000 for their products in a single year. The farmer knows what Nature will bring forth for him from his experience in the past. He knows if certain seeds are planted and properly cared for that Nature will take care of the rest. In the same way you are master of your own destiny. Providing your blood is in good order, it only needs a little effort on your own part to keep healthy and strong—rid your body of the poisons that are apt to accumulate and your system is ready to ward off the attack of the germs of disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes rich red blood—by increasing the number of red blood corpuscles. There is no alcohol in this great tonic to shiver up the red blood corpuscles. As an alterative extract, made only of herbs and roots it goes about its work in nature's way. It stimulates the liver into proper action, and feeds the worn-out nerves, stomach and heart or pure blood. Used for over a third of a century it has sold more largely than any other blood medicine in the United States. More bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are sold to-day than ever before—that is a true test of its medicinal value after thirty-eight years of deserved popularity.

train last summer Davies saw a large jack rabbit running even with the train, and the idea of training jacks for racing purposes first presented itself. Since then he has been gathering likely and large specimens and has been devoting much of his time to training them.

He now has two jack rabbits trained so they obey his commands fairly well, and every nice day when he has time he takes them out and races them against incoming trains. An assistant stationed at the end of the course bags the rabbits. The speed of these animals is remarkable. So far it has been impossible to accurately time them but it is claimed that they can negotiate a mile a minute.

As the train approaches the animals become restless and nervous and prance about much like running horses at the start of a race.

Up to the present time the rabbits have only been trained to run when a train is approaching, but Mr. Davies anticipates racing the rabbits against horses, bicycles and motor cars. He has the fastest rabbits in Minnesota.

Where They Get It.

George Ade, not long ago, was speaking of the curious ideas some children have of the most ordinary things. Ade said the story he was about to tell actually occurred in Indiana, his native State. There was a little boy, who, on seeing a pan of warm, fresh milk, inquired where the cows got their milk.

"Where do you get your tears?" was the reply. "Gee," exclaimed the youngster, "do you have to spank the cow?"

Man's Unreasonableness Is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable, when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble. "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro., druggists, price 50c.

MAN'S SPINE

Is Bound Together With Silver Wire, and He Will Recover.

[Philadelphia Cor. New York Press.]

Surgery has been triumphant in the case of Albert B. Tripp, the young medical student of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., who was shot in the spine two years ago, and who came here a few weeks ago in the hope of an operation saving him from paralysis. To-day Tripp started for his home with a silver wire binding together his spine, and, with feeling already returned to his legs and the lower part of his body, the physicians say in six months he will be himself again.

Tripp risked his life in the operation, which was done by Drs. Stewart and Crampton, in the Pennsylvania Hospital. He was told that there was small chance of his surviving the operation, but he said that he would risk his life rather than exist a hopeless paralytic. To the surprise of the surgeons, he rallied splendidly from the operation, and to their great satisfaction and to the patient's unbounded delight only 24 hours after he had come out of the ether a tickling sensation began to shoot through his legs. In a few days the success of the operation had been demonstrated by the gradual returning of Tripp's control of his body.

Just two years ago Tripp was accidentally shot while studying in the Ann Arbor University. The bullet lodged in the spine, and for months his life was despaired of. His family was wealthy and everything possible was done for him. But not one of the score of surgeons called from all parts of the country would advise an operation, saying that it inevitably would mean the young man's death. It was the result of an operation on Clara Nichols, a waitress, in this city, that decided Tripp to come here for attention. Miss Nichols was shot by her sweetheart in the back when dining in a Chestnut street restaurant. The bullet was taken from her spine and she recovered almost completely from paralysis.

The case coming to Tripp's knowledge, he overrode the objections of his parents and attending physicians and came here. He rode from Mt. Pleasant in a private car, stretched on a cot that had been provided especially with sensitive springs for the journey. It was feared the slightest jolt might mean his death, but Tripp stood the journey well, actually sleeping most of the way. The operation was performed 10 days ago. The bullet was removed, and it was found to have shattered the spine, which was mended with silver thread. Almost immediately Tripp began to feel better, and he has been improving steadily since.

When he was told by the doctors that six months would pass before he might hope to be entirely recovered he resolved to return to Mt. Pleasant without further delay. The physicians wanted to keep him under their personal observation, but he exercised his will just as he had when his relatives argued against his

To Be a Politician.

An old German farmer, near La Rose, had a fine son of whom he was justly proud. He decided to find out the trend of the boy's mind and adopted a novel method by which to test him. Slipping into his son's room one morning he placed on the table a glass of whiskey, a silver dollar and a Bible. "Now," said he "ven dot poy comes in if he takes dot tollar he's going to be a beeznis man, if he takes dot Bible he'll be a preacher, but if he takes dat whiskey he's no goot and is going to be a drunkard." Then he hid behind the door to see what he would choose. In came the boy, whistling, and walked right up to the table. He picked up the Bible and put it under his arm, he put the dollar in his pocket and picked up the glass of whiskey and drained it to the bottom and went smacking his lips. The old German poked his head out from behind the door and exclaimed: "Mein Gott, he was going to be a politician."

Shocking Stockings.

"I saw a pair of those new skin-colored stockings for women the other day," said a keen observer yesterday, "or, to be more accurate, I saw a part of a pair. I understand an attempt has been made to introduce them in Paris, but on this side, it seems, there is a doubt as to whether they can be made to go and I don't wonder. Those I saw were being worn at the time, and it is only because I am not affected with heart disease that I am here to tell the tale, for the shock was certainly starting. They are entirely different from the 'flesh-colored' affairs seen sometimes on the stage, and look exactly like the real article. I believe they come in several different shades, so that exact matches may be had. The effect is not pleasing somehow. They make you think of the bare-legged men you see at the seashore during the bathing hour. However, I suppose we can get used to anything."

As a proof that he takes care of the baby, a man will point to the candy spots on his clothes.

Good Health to the Children

Children especially are fond of dainties, and the housekeeper must look carefully to their food.

As good cake can be made only with good eggs, so also a cake that is healthful as well as dainty must be raised with a pure and perfect baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder is indispensable in the preparation of the highest quality of food. It imparts that peculiar lightness, sweetness and flavor noticed in the finest cake, biscuit, doughnuts, crusts, etc., and what is more important, renders the food wholesome and agreeable to young and old.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Monday where they had been to see the formers sister, Mrs. Mammie Ward, who is sick. Shortly after the midnight hour of April 25, the messenger of death bore the spirit, of Mrs. Sarilda Stevens into the arms of him who has promised to wipe all tears away, in that world where there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, woe nor pain. She was 66 years old the day before her death, and had long been a consistent member of the M. E. church. She leaves two sons, one daughter and one sister, with a host of relatives and friends to mourn her departure. She often expressed a desire to be with Jesus and entreated others to join her in the bright beyond. She is in heaven praising her blessed savior, mingling with loved ones and waiting for loved ones to come. We bless Gods name for her death, and had long been a precious memory.

FIELD CORN.

Two Standard Varieties Only in All the Various Kinds Grown.

There are two standard varieties of field corn, known as dent corn and flint corn. The grains of the dent variety are wedge shaped and are dented on top of the grain. The dent varieties are larger and generally give a greater yield to the acre. This kind should have the richest of soil and to be planted where there is the most moisture in the soil. The dent has several colors, is generally used for meal, for ensilage and is the standard seed for the corn growing States. It requires 300 pounds of water to be taken up through the roots of dent corn to produce one pound of dry corn. It must have a deep soil to have that much moisture, or the rains must be very frequent to provide that quantity of water.

The flint kernels are hard and smooth and have an oily appearance. The stalks are not so large as the dent. Will grow to its utmost capacity on thinner soils, and is better adapted to rolling lands. It only requires about 233 pounds of water to pass through the roots of flint corn, grinds into excellent meal for table use.

There are several varieties of the dent which will mature in the South in ninety days. There is one called "Indiana Early" that will mature in Tennessee in ninety days. It is popular, and might give satisfaction in Colorado. There originated in Iowa a variety called "Silver Mine" which is a quick growing kind, and will be hard in ninety days from time of planting. The warmer the climate, the quicker the maturity.

Sunflower Philosophy.

When you give a compliment, do you give it grudgingly?

We have kept tab on a good many of the old-timers and find that many of them invent history.

People are becoming better; but we sometimes think they are not as good looking as they used to be. We find as we grow older that our idea of an Easter hat that is becoming, is that on a sixteen-year-old girl.

The President always was an original man. He has killed something that isn't in the dictionary—a bob eat.

Look closely at any dog and you will see this expression: "If I can get a chance to-night I will kill a sheep." Everything else in the house is more quiet when there is illness, but did you ever notice the impudence of the clock, which ticks all the louder? "My wife and daughters find a good deal of fault with me," a man writes to this office. "What would you recommend?" Break the dishes.

Comma Costs $2,000,000.

An interesting story is told of an inserted comma which cost the United States Government $2,000,000. When the United States Congress was drafting the tariff bill it enumerated in one section the articles to be admitted on the free list. Among these were "all foreign fruitplants." The copying clerk in his superior wisdom omitted the hyphen and inserted a comma after "fruit" so that the clause read "all foreign fruit, plants etc." The mistake could not be rectified for about a year and during this time all oranges, lemons, bananas, grapes and other foreign fruit were admitted free of duty with a loss to the Government of at least $2,000,000 for that year.

To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge) a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all throat and lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address, Rev. Edward A. Wilson, Brooklyn, New York. 32ry

Mental Suggestion.

A Macon young man took his girl to a show recently and soon after the curtain was raised she complained of feeling faint. The young man took something out of his pocket and whispered, Put this tablet in your mouth. She quickly placed it under her tongue, but it would not dissolve. However, she soon felt much better. When the show was over she slipped the tablet into her glove. When she removed the glove at home she found the tablet was a button.

How to Polish a Stove.

Put a quantity of stove polish into a dish, add equal parts of water and turpentine and a few drops of varnish. Mix this well together and apply with a small paint brush. Let the polish dry and then rub briskly with the stove brush. This will give a glossy polish that will last from one spring until the next. This should not be used on the top of a cook stove that is in use every day, for the odor would be rather offensive when the polish was first put on. It is an excellent polish for stoves that are not used through the summer.

He Waked Up.

One evening a dumpy little woman with solemn eyes, holding by the hands two dumpy little boys, also with solemn eyes, came to the box office of a theater where a Western variety troupe were playing. Handling in a quarter, she asked meekly for the best seat she could get for the money. As the ticket man handed out the desired piece of cardboard his eyes fell upon the upturned faces of the children.

"These children must have tickets if you take them in," he said.

A distressed look came into the little woman's eyes, and she answered:

"Oh, no, mister! I never pay for them. I wouldn't bring them along only their father works at nights and there is no one to leave them with. I never can spare more than a quarter, and I just love to see a show. We don't cheat you any, mister, for they both go sound asleep just as soon as they get into a seat, and don't see a single bit of the show."

The argument, or the anxious eyes convinced the ticket man, and the two children were allowed to go in.

Toward the end of the second act one of the ushers came out of the auditorium and handed a twenty-five-cent piece to the ticket man.

"What's this?" demanded he.

"Don't know," drawled the usher. "A little chuck of a woman just now beckoned to me clear across the house and said one of her kids had waked up and was looking at the show and that I should bring you out this quarter."

The Ideal Saddle Horse.

The ideal saddle horse is from fifteen to sixteen hands high, short backed and well coupled. It has thin, high withers, a long, well arched neck and long, keen ears well set on the head. The tail should be set high on the rump, and the rump itself should be somewhat sloping. The horse should have besides flat sinewy bones in its legs and a medium sized foot.

Love.

[Philadelphia Press.]

"Yes," said the Chicago girl, "I'm engaged to Mr. Rocks. It was really hard to decide, because I like Mr. Bullion quite as well and they're equally wealthy."

"What decided the thing?" asked her friend.

RUDE MR. CHURCHILL.

Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill of England is now thirty. In five years he has been through two campaigns—those in the Sudan and South Africa—has been a prisoner of the Boers, only to make a sensational escape; has written half a dozen noteworthy books, is the fiercest and one of the most effective of Chamberlain's political foes, has an unrivaled power of rudeness and can boast of being one of the best hated men in British politics. He is equipped with a mind and manner comparable to those of Disraeli. Here is an example of his rudeness. In a recent speech he said: "The other day a cabinet minister, I forget which"—this with a drawn out sneer which brought down the house—"really, gentlemen, how could I get through my work if I had to bother about the odds and ends?"—Chicago News.

The King Investigated.

Signor Prinetti, the Italian foreign minister, recently asked the king to sign a decree augmenting the foreign office staff. His majesty promised to think over it and next morning set out alone on foot to pay a visit to the office. Arriving at 9 o'clock, he found no one there. A long search unearthed a solitary clerk, who was smoking cigarettes. "What are the hours of this office?" asked the king. "From 8 to 12," was the reply. "And when may I expect to see your colleagues?" "They generally turn up about 11 o'clock." Then his majesty sent for Signor Prinetti and suggested that instead of asking for more clerks he should make it his business to see that the existing clerks attended to their duties.

Theory and Fact in Geology.

The construction of the great Simplon tunnel has proved once more that geology is largely a matter of theories, which may or may not fit actual conditions even close to the surface of the earth. The engineers have discovered that the geologists were entirely at fault as to the temperature which would be encountered, missing the mark 25 degrees at the point where hot water was found. The water conditions in general were unlike those predicted, and the engineers found that the dips in the rock strata, which had been declared on theory to be mainly vertical, were, in fact, horizontal.

A Musical Cabman.

Sir Frederick Bridge, the noted London musician and conductor, says that one of the most discriminating critics of his acquaintance is a cabman, who has a fine organ in his home and spends every Sunday at the instrument. He first met the man after having conducted a performance of "The Messiah." Sir Frederick, learning that the cabby had been listening outside, asked him what he thought of it. "Very good, Sir Frederick," was the quiet reply, "but you took the 'Hallelujah' chorus too fast." Subsequently the conductor realized that this was the case.

Frisco Not Wild and Woolly.

"You see more men in evening dress in San Francisco than ever before in its history," said an experienced clerk at the California hotel the other night. "I think I am safe in saying that the majority of the men around the hotel lobbies, both up and down town, now wear dress or dinner coats at night. I was in New York last year, and I think San Francisco is almost, maybe quite, up to the New York level in this respect."

READ THIS

Louisville, Ky., June 13, 1904.
Dr. E. W. Irrigation Systems.

The census bureau has issued a report on the condition of irrigation in the United States in 1902, showing that 3,415 systems, with 59,311 miles of main canals and ditches, were irrigating 9,487,077 acres on 134,036 farms. The amount expended in constructing all these systems was $93,320,452. The average construction cost per acre in the arid region was $89.14 and average per irrigation system $2,710.

Woman's Most Dangerous Weapon.

As if the eye were not a weapon with which every young woman is already expert, certain rules for an eye drill have recently been promulgated. It seems that the beauty of a woman's orbs lies not so much in their shape and color as in the way she uses them; hence a long list of directions for rotating them so that the muscles may be best trained. Man never knows when he is safe.—Boston Transcript.

The Sundays in 1905.

A peculiar fact is that 1905 began on Sunday and will end on Sunday, and therefore has fifty-three Sundays. This will not occur again in 110 years.—Leesburg (Va.) Washingtonian.

Washing Made Easy.

Fill a clothes boiler two-thirds full of water, adding almost one bar of good laundry soap and a small handful of washing soda if the water is hard. When boiling, put in three tablespoonfuls of kerosene and let it boil five minutes longer. Wash the stains from white clothes, put in boiler and let them boil fifteen minutes. Take out into tub, pour on a pail of cold water and wash through this suds. Rinse with warm water, then blue and hang to dry. Used as directed, kerosene leaves no odor.

To Pickle Pigs' Feet.

Clean, cover with slightly salted boiling water and boil until tender. Pack while hot in a stone jar, and cover while you make the vinegar ready. Into a half gallon of vinegar stir a cup of white sugar, three dozen black peppers, a dozen blades of mace and a dozen cloves. Boil all together hard for one minute, then pour over the feet. It will be ready for use at the end of forty-eight hours, but will keep for weeks.

To Clean Mahogany Furniture.

"The bluish gray film" on mahogany may be removed by washing the furniture with lukewarm soap-suds and drying quickly with soft linen cloth, one that will absorb moisture directly. Use the best quality of castile soap, only wet a small piece at a time, and dry it immediately, so that no portion is wet more than a few seconds. The film should entirely disappear with this treatment.

Imitation Ground Glass.

A disagreeable view can be shut off from any window without interfering with the light by painting the window with as strong a solution of epsom salts as a given quantity of hot water will dissolve. This gives a good imitation of ground glass, a design can be drawn on it, and it can be washed off at any time.

To Remove Paint From Glass.

To remove paint from glass use a fluid made of four ounces of borax dissolved in one pint of hot water. Add a tablespoonful of ammonia. Apply to the spots quite hot. Sometimes a metal scraper will work well without the fluid.

Fat For Frying.

To clarify fat or suet for frying it should be cut up in small pieces, put into a saucepan with just enough water to prevent burning and heated over a slow fire until the bottom of the saucepan can be seen. Then it must be strained.

To Clean White Wool.

A white Shetland wool shawl may be "washed" in a tub of heated flour, well salted, rubbing as in suds. Cover with fresh flour and leave all night before shaking.

Persepiring Feet.

For excessive perspiration of the feet rub with the following: One ounce of sweet oil, one ounce of alcohol and one-half tablespoonful of ammonia.
